Commentary

September put disciplined risk management to the test, and Dolat Quantum Leap demonstrated resilience. DQL declined 0.91%, against a 5.57% fall in the S&P BSE 500 TRI, outperforming by 4.66%. Systematic stock selection, disciplined positioning and approximately 10% cash helped contain the decline, highlighting how DQL’s signal-driven process adapts when market conditions weaken. This resilience is complemented by outperformance across all reported periods. DQL delivered 3.71% over three months and 21.12% over six months, against benchmark returns of -3.59% and 8.07%, respectively. Since inception, DQL has returned 11.83% versus -5.39% for the benchmark, an outperformance of 17.22%, reinforcing the effectiveness of its systematic approach to opportunity capture and risk management.
